Project number:	2020-1-CZ01-KA203-078218
Project title:	Open access Educational Materials on Naturally Occurring Molecules - sources, biological activity and use (OEMONOM)
Type of activity:	Intense Learner Meeting
Date of activity:	19. 6. 2023 – 24. 6. 2023
Place of activity:	Hradec Králové, Czech Republic
Organized by:	Faculty of Pharmacy in Hradec Králové, Charles University
Number of available places:	16 (2 from each partner organization)

Preamble: Faculty of Pharmacy in Hradec Králové, Charles University (Czech Republic), together with its project partners from Alma Mater Studiorum - University of Bologna (Italy), University of Pécs (Hungary), University of Porto (Portugal), Comenius University in Bratislava (Slovak Republic), Université de Lorraine (France), University of Ljubljana (Slovenia) and Christian-Albrecht University of Kiel (Germany), announces an Open Call for the participation in the Intense Learner Meeting within the Open access Educational Materials on Naturally Occurring Molecules - sources, biological activity and use (OEMONOM) project supported by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union.

The aim of this intensive study program is to give the students a detailed overview on the topic of vitamins with emphasis on natural and food occurrence, stability in food, symptoms of deficiency, therapeutic use, crucial pharmacokinetic data, and potential toxicity.

Participants

The program is open to students of the partner organizations. Each partner will be able to nominate 2 students who will benefit from the outcomes of the project and will have a unique opportunity to intensively learn about vitamins as well as to spend a week in the company of other foreign students of pharmacy or other biomedical disciplines.

Participation is fully covered by the program. For the selected students, travel, accommodation, and meals will be covered as per the project guidelines.

Who can apply: students of pharmacy or other biomedical disciplines studying both in Master and doctoral programs. The student must however be a student of one of the partner institutions listed above.

Program

During the 1-week event students will be involved in lectures and seminars and will be able to verify their newly gained knowledge in several tests in MOODLE. Accompanying social program will also be prepared for them. Preliminary program is attached here.
